

Adriana Zichy, JD Candidate 2019, Queen's Law

I am a third-year law student hoping to pursue a career as a union-side labour lawyer.

I have been actively engaged with opportunities to learn about labour and employment law since beginning at Queen's. I am currently a Senior Student Editor with the Canadian Labour and Employment Law Journal, and have also worked as a research assistant to Professor Banks and the Centre for Law in the Contemporary Workplace.

Last year, I competed as an oralist on the winning Mathews Dinsdale National Labour Arbitration Competition moot team and will participate again as a coach this year. Prior to this, I was a Queen's finalist at the Hicks Morley Labour Law Moot.

This past summer, I worked as a summer student at Koskie Minsky LLP, a union-side labour law firm in Toronto, where I will return to article this summer.

Prior to attending law school, I worked as an organizer for trade unions.